

How Shutting Down Line 5 Harms Ohio's Families and Businesses.

Ohio families and businesses will spend an additional $2.2 billion to over $2.7 billion on gasoline and diesel annually over the following five years due to the resulting loss of production at area refineries if Line 5 is shutdown. Across the Midwest, these families and businesses will spend at least $23.7 billion more on gasoline and diesel.

Based on previous studies of disaster-related fuel production disruptions, the closure of Line 5 will spark a 9.47% to 11.66% regional increase in fuel prices. This increase is independent of any transportation constraints or other market conditions, such as the surge in fuel prices observed over the past 12 months that are tied to international oil markets and logistical challenges caused by the pandemic.
